Acknowledgments

To two students, Josh Pittman and Declan Seviour, we would like to extend our sincerest thank you for your help in kick-starting the whole project, and to Dr. Peter Trnka who launched Codgito into the new phase it has reached today. We would also like to extend our thanks to all the members of the board who have helped in whatever ways, both big and small. As well as to the members of those who came before us and gave us the history and platform upon which Codgito has grown, we would not be here today without all your hard work in the past. We hope to have made those who came before us proud, and to inspire a new generation of thinkers through a platform on which they can express themselves freely and proudly. Additionally, we would like to extend our thank you to the journal we shadow, Janus Unbound, and all the members from that journal who have assisted us in some way without being members of our board, and to the MUN Philosophy Department which has helped us along with the members of the pseudo-board of the Philosophy Society. We would finally like to thank the extremely helpful staff at the Queen Elizabeth II Library who have assisted us in a multitude of ways. It is through everyone's combined initiatives that we have been able to launch Codgito: Student Journal of Philosophy and Theory.
