

Rachel Fraser

An Amateur Author

I sit in rapture of the masters of the spoken and unspoken word I feel the beat of their hearts in every rhythm every cadence of thought captured in ink
in film
in audio file

I am an audiophile for the decadence of my language airwaves transport the modern poet to my bedside whisper sweet sentiments heavy with implication
straight to my breast
nestle in my soul
kept

perhaps my transmission, my message, is kept not lost
but how do they do it
to speak and be heard convey coherent thought manifest signatures over every breath captured
on ink
on film
on audio file
