

A word from the Dean of Education, Memorial University of Newfoundland

Dr. Alice Collins

Once again, Sharing the Voices, The Phenomenon of Singing, has delighted and inspired us. The 3rd International Symposium has carried on the tradition of celebrating music and music education at Memorial University of Newfoundland, a tradition firmly rooted in this place, Newfoundland and Labrador.

The Symposium again successfully attracted academics with much to share about choral work, composing and teaching. Blended with voices raised in song, the Symposium is a "best practice model" of enjoining theory and practice. The rich palette of musical offerings is a tribute to the organizers and participants.

This Symposium is now part of our summer fest. We look forward to this biennial event with great anticipation and we are never disappointed - quite the contrary. This grand celebration of music is exhilarating and reminds us, once again, of the importance of music in our schools, in our province, and in our world.

Congratulations to the organizers and the participants for this musical and academic reverie.

Symposium III Organizing Committee

Andrea Rose, Co-chair

Ki Adams, Co-chair

Donald Buell

Jane Leibel

Jennifer Nakashima

Bernadette Power

Paul Rice

Brian Roberts

Caroline Schiller

Michelle Smith

Paulette Campbell, ex officio

Douglas Dunsmore, ex officio

Peter Gamder, ex officio

Susan Knight, ex officio

Janet Miller, ex officio

Paper Selection Committee

Brian Roberts, MUN Faculty of Education, Chair

Nicholas Bannan, University of Reading (UK)

Barbara Burnaby, Dean, MUN Faculty of Education

Colin Durrant, Roehampton Institute, London (UK)

Timothy Steeves, MUN School of Music