The cover of the second volume of at the Edge combines various prints and photographs selected from the excellent digital collections at the Library of Congress. We have reproduced the full images on the pages that follow, followed in each case by two links. The first of these takes you to Memorial University’s servers, where we have uploaded a high-resolution version of the image. The second takes you to our source at the Library of Congress. Readers interested in bibliographic information and context for the images can begin further research there (and lose themselves in the amazing gardens of nineteenth-century print culture).
